Investment Philosophy

Miller/Howard has maintained a consistent philosophy to managing investments:

- Internal compounding is the key to building long-term returns.
- Start by focusing on income-producing equities.
- While stock prices may fluctuate, dividends are always positive.

Investment Process

Focus on companies that demonstrate a willingness to pay and grow their dividends.

- Research companies for strong balance sheets and recurring business models.
- Assemble a portfolio with a forward looking view of the sustainability of the underlying companies' current dividend and the prospect for it to grow.

About Destra

Destra Capital connects financial advisors with innovative investment strategies and uniquely positioned asset management products.

With an experienced management team and specialized asset managers that confidently take the long view, our goal is to rise above fleeting market statistics towards the opportunity for long-term returns in the pursuit of Responsible Alpha®.

Pursuit of Responsible Alpha®

Common to all the investment offerings Destra represents is the goal of providing market-leading returns with an eye towards downside risk -- we call this Responsible Alpha®.

Our experience working with financial advisors shows investing is not about beating an index, it is about helping clients achieve their objectives and goals.

The pursuit of Responsible Alpha® is the guiding principal to all the investment products Destra offers and leads us to partner with industry leading asset management firms.
