Investing with Destra

We take the big picture perspective in selecting experienced investment managers with unique investment strategies.

Offering these experienced managers in various product structures, we seek to provide investors with less risk and the opportunity for greater returns over time.

We recognize that downside protection is key to success for investors, and that is why it's at the center of our Responsible Alpha® investing approach.

At Destra, we emphasize the long view rather than worry about the latest economic turn. Our goal is to offer products that rise above fleeting market statistics and seek opportunity to generate above-market returns over time.

Pursuit of Responsible Alpha®

Common to all the Destra investment offerings is the goal of providing market leading returns with an eye towards downside risk -- we call this Responsible Alpha®.

Our experience working with financial advisors shows investing is not about beating an index, it is about helping clients achieve their objectives and goals.

The pursuit of Responsible Alpha® is the guiding principal to all the investment products Destra offers.

Responsible Alpha® in Action

Consider the following scenario. A hypothetical portfolio experiences a 10% loss of value during a market downturn. That portfolio will need to return 11% to return the portfolio back to it's starting value. Take this example out even further, to a 20% or 50% loss and you begin to see how much you need to recover just to breakeven. By attempting to limit the downside through managing risk, investors may be able to achieve greater performance over a long-term investment horizon and just as importantly, have confidence and conviction to stay invested.

Experience Rises Above the Noise™

Providing trusted financial products requires experienced talent—people dedicated to the core value of building durable portfolios for investors.

We've engaged passionate, committed people with decades of knowledge in their areas of expertise to form the foundation of Destra. The benefits to the financial advisors and investors we support are what comprise the Destra advantage:

- A leadership team with significant tenure and experience whose objective is to remove market noise and provide guidance to advisors in assembling portfolios for long-term results.
- Asset managers with unique and innovative investment strategies, whose Responsible Alpha® approach is built around the goal of reducing downside risk, while still providing the opportunity for long-term, market-leading returns.

Innovative Investment Strategies

We partner with independent, institutional investment managers that have developed original, specialty-based investment strategies. This partnership allows us to offer investment products in vehicles that accentuate these strategies, which we distribute through financial professionals to investors.
